GARRSONCASE GOING BEFORE FEDERAL JURY

Attorney General Clark Announces Inquiry Will Get Under Way Next Wednesday

PLAN TO SUMMON MAY

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—The government completed arrangements today to lay the "Garsson case" before federal grand jurors as a demand arose that Rep. May (D-Ky.) answer senate investigators' questions about the wartime munitions combine prior to the November election.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.), a member of the senate investigating committee which spent six weeks delving into the once sprawling arms venture, told reporters that "in justice to May" the committee should arrange an early appearance for the Kentucky lawmaker.

There was no reference to May in Attorney General Tom Clark's terse announcement last night that the Garsson case would be presented to a grand jury, beginning tomorrow. Chief Justice Borah J. Laws, of the District of Columbia court is to be in charge of the inquiry.

Two special assistants to Clark, William A. Paisley and Isaiah Matlack will present the government's case. It was built upon a "full FBI investigation into facts turned up by the senate committee's lengthy hearings."

May suffered the heart attack the day before he was originally scheduled to testify last summer. Since then, he had been recuperating at his Prestonburg, Ky., home.

May has declared in public statements that he did not profit in any way from relations with the Garssons as chairman of the house military committee were intended solely to further the war effort.

Army officers testified to the senate group that May had seemed to avoid questions to munitions firms organized by Henry and Murray Garsson, brothers.

Intervention Possibility Over A-Bomb

New York, Oct. 9.—(P)—The next public hint that Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, might take a hand in the slow-moving atomic energy discussion raised far-reaching questions today as Bernard M. Baruch held him to the American plan to harness the atom for peace.

Lie dropped the hint during a short speech last night just before Baruch was awarded the Freedom House plaque for his services as the United Nations member of the United Nations energy commission. However, Lie later told newsmen that he had no intention of intervening immediately.

In accepting the honor, presented by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Baruch maintained that the American plan, which Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of commerce, has bitterly assailed and which has been rejected by Russia, is "generous and just."

To the applause of three cabinet members and some 1,500 diners, Baruch bluntly declared that "no amount of deliberately created confusion shall prevail" against the American plan he outlined last June 14.

His audience listened quietly and carefully as he struck at Soviet Russia's stand that the control inspections insisted on by America would violate national sovereignty.

PIN IN INTESTINES

Baltimore, Oct. 9.—(P)—Physicians at Sinai Hospital were hoping today an operation would prove unnecessary on 18-month-old Sharon Lanninger as they watched the slow progress of an open safety pin through the baby's intestines. Sharon swallowed the pin Monday night when her 22-year-old mother, Mrs. Audrey Lanninger, widow of a merchant seaman, looked away momentarily while preparing her daughter for bed.

Government May Approve Globe Circling B-29 Flight

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—Final government approval of a projected globe circling flight by as many as two dozen B-29 Superfortresses hung today on a diplomatic "if."

Officials predicted privately that the state department probably will approve the army air forces plans for the flight—if some way can be found to minimize the venture as a type of "big stick" diplomacy.

The problem confronting the state department is that whatever may be the intentions behind the project, diplomats here and in foreign offices around the world appear certain to read into it various implications.

This is a source of concern to American officials who contend

Survey Shows Shortages Of Basic Items, In Some Cases Worse Than Bleak War Days

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—The White House said today that President Truman is continuing his investigation of the meat shortage and is "getting reports every day."

Mr. Truman told his news conference on September 26 that he had been investigating the situation for some time. He attributed the shortage then to an "extraordinarily large slaughter" in July and August, when price controls were temporarily off, and predicted a "greater quantity" of meat in the near future.

Last Thursday the president said he agreed with Reconstruction Director John R. Steadman's report that the meat shortage may grow worse this winter, and announced he was having a survey made. While forecasting shortages ahead, he said there will be no meat famine.

Ross told reporters Mr. Truman will hold his weekly news conference at 4 p. m. tomorrow, but that he does not expect any announcement on meat at that time.

Asked if F. H. LaGuardia, director general of UNRRA, had urged the possible importation of Argentine beef for that agency in a White House call yesterday, Ross said he had no information on that.

By The Associated Press

A sharply etched picture of shortages of meat, soap, sugar, toilet tissue and other key living items—worse in many instances than during the bleakest war days—was disclosed today by a survey of 45 cities.

Up and down and across the country, major communities reported that many normal essentials had either gone from the shelves entirely, disappeared under the counter to become so-called "stoop items" for favored customers, or were available only to the lucky or constant shopper.

The cross-nation check by The Associated Press brought in these, among other returns:

BULLETIN

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—One of OPA's staunchest champions in last summer's senate battle said he is giving "serious consideration" to junking all price controls today as President Truman pressed ahead with his personal survey of the meat shortage.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who lost a fight last June for renewal of the price control act without amendments, declared in a statement: "If price control is getting back like prohibition in its last days so that public opinion is not going to support effective price control and the congress is not going to support it, might just as well not try to have it."

In 40 of the 45 cities meat was either not available at all, or not often was in supply ranging from a small fraction of normal to an "occasional" appearance.

In all 45 cities soap in one or all its forms were becoming almost a collectors item.

In 24 cities sugar was scarce or even in acute shortage, while in 18 others it was either plentiful or in fair to middling supply.

Sixteen communities listed toilet tissue as the scarcest.

Cooking oils and fats, shortening, mayonnaise, salad oils, oleomargarine, lard, syrup and other items containing sugar were short in varying cities—a list to which the Jacksonville, Fla., reporter tacked on "bourbon whiskey," and Milwaukee added a diaper shortage.

Boise, Idaho, stood out as a bright spot in the nation. It reported tersely, "no shortage of beef, lamb, sugar or butter," but complained mildly that there was a scarcity of "certain cuts of pork."

Reports of minor disturbances in the dash to capture scarce items were scattered across the country, but Columbus, Ohio, where some housewives were reported to be bribing the butchers with gifts of

Ceilings Lifted On Rail Dining Cars Goering a Beaten And Broken Man

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—All meals, food and beverages served on railroad dining cars will be freed from price ceilings on Friday, the OPA announced today.

The agency announced that the exemption will not apply to sales of sandwiches, milk or other food items or drinks sold by train peddlers.

Ceilings also will continue on sales at railroad station news stands or individual selling food and drinks at stations.

The OPA said it is allowing exemption for meals, food and beverages served in dining cars, cafe cars or club cars because the railroads had proved "they are losing substantial amounts of money on their dining car operations, and the price increases that the OPA is required under the law to grant are greater than the railroads say they will put into effect themselves as the service is exempted from price control."

The round-the-world flight plan was announced to a news conference late yesterday by Undersecretary of War W. Stuart Symington.

He said the flight would go by way of Cairo, India and the Pacific, would include between eight and 24 of the army's heaviest regular service bombers and definitely would be made in the next few weeks "if the state department approves."

That United States relations with Russia—although based at present on Secretary of State Byrnes' policy of "firmness"—must be kept in balance. They particularly do not want to present any evidence of sword-rattling or other gestures which might upset world affairs at a particularly difficult juncture.

Most of the 12 condemned men have fallen into a state of resigned depression and decline to discuss the verdicts and sentences anymore.

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—Yugoslavia has turned over $150,000 to the United States as indemnity for the deaths of five American airmen shot down over Yugoslavia August 19, the state department announced today.

At the same time, the department made it plain that the United States still hopes to obtain additional indemnities from Yugoslavia for the loss of two transport planes—a claim which Yugoslavia has rejected so far.

In compliance with the Yugoslav government's request, the note said, the United States government will distribute the sum in five equal amounts of $30,000 each to the families of the dead men.

ITALIAN PACT IS ASSAILED BY MOLOTOV

Draft Plan for Free State Of Trieste Called Scheme For Allies to Control Adriatic Area

CITY DISENFRANCHISED

Paris, Oct. 9.—(P)—The peace conference entered its final phase of treaty-writing late today with the adoption of the preamble to the Italian settlement.

By JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, Oct. 9.—(P)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia assailed the Italian peace treaty draft plan for the future free state of Trieste as an "undemocratic" means of keeping the strategic Adriatic area under British-American control.

Speaking for the Soviet union in a peace conference penalty session, Molotov declared that the statute adopted by the parity's Italian political and territorial commission for governing the free state lodged "absolute power" in a foreign governor and left the city's population "disenfranchised" under foreign troops.

"This means Trieste is not an international free territory, but a semi-enemy supervised territory under control of the Anglo-American forces," Molotov declared.

Voting by the 21-nation conference on the Italian treaty draft was scheduled to begin at 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST) with a night session also scheduled.

Making his first pronouncement since his return from Moscow, Molotov demanded that the conference transfer power in Trieste to a government elected by the popular assembly similar to the pre-war government in Danzig.

"It is not true to say there is no similarity between Trieste and Danzig," he said. "The experience of Danzig should be utilized in Trieste."

Addressing himself to "western bloc" states, Molotov criticized what he termed "attempts by the old democracies to isolate the young Slav democracies. Especially as these are trying to maintain their new national institutions and are not willing to do the bidding of some other powers."

Molotov told the conference delegates that the question before them was whether to establish the free state on "democratic principles" or abandon these principles.

"The Anglo-American proposals for Trieste mean in actual fact making the city something like a colony," said Molotov, adding that the French proposal which the commission adopted as "nothing more than a revised version of the British-American proposals."

This, said Molotov, presents the

More Price Lids Removed By the O. P. A.

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—The OPA removed price lids today from rubber tires for lawn mowers, tires bus lines rent on a mileage basis, and used bicycle tires.

Ceilings still cover most passenger car and truck tires which remain on the scarce list.

OPA said there is an adequate supply of tires for lawn mowers and for rent to bus lines, and used bicycle tires are rated as unimportant to business and living costs.

As freed because of adequate supplies are prices on acetone, a chemical solvent, and chestnut extract, used by tanners.

Removed, as unimportant to living or business costs are ceilings on: Photo finishing and printing materials; bathing shower caps; wooden cups, buckets, kits and pails; casing glue and miscellaneous chemical, drug and rubber items.

Pioneer Chicago Ward Leader Dies

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(P)—Michael (Hinky Dink) Kenna, leader of a ward political dynasty founded before the first Chicago World Fair in 1893, died today.

The "little fellow" of long remembered campaign battles was either 88 or 91 years old; Kenna's word and the records varied. He died in a room of the Blackstone Hotel in the city's first ward that he loved so well and ruled so long.

Ferriss Opposes Dickson In Third Series Game

YORK'S HOMER GIVES SOX AN EARLY LEAD

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 9.—(P)—For the first time in this world series, two right-handers were the opposing pitchers, as Manager Joe Cronin entrusted Dave (Boo) Ferriss, his biggest winner, with the Boston Red Sox starting assignment in today's third game. Eddie Dyer, whose masterminding has helped the St. Louis Cardinals gain a split in the first two games, countered with Murry Dickson, a little man with a big curve ball.

The Sox went into the lead in the first inning, when York hit a terrific home run over the left field wall, after Pesky had lined a single along the first base line and Williams had been walked purposely.

Today's game marked the first fall classic in Boston since September 11, 1918, when the Red Sox, behind the three-hit pitching of Submariner Carl Mays, defeated Fred Mitchell's Chicago Cubs, 2-1, to clinch their fifth world championship in six games.

Today's starting lineups:

St. Louis (NL) Boston (AL)
Schoendienst, 2b Moses, rf
Masi, 1b Pesky, ss
Musial, 1b DiMaggio, cf
Slaughter, rf Williams, lf

Umpires—Barlick (NL), plate; Berry (AL), first base; Ballantyne (NL), second base; Hubbard (AL), third base.

Play-by-play account of the game:

First Inning
Cardinals: Schoendienst took the first pitch for a called strike and bounced right back to the box and Ferriss tossed him out easily. Moore hit the first pitch to Doerr who threw him out. Musial walked on five pitches. On the third pitch, Slaughter, Musial's second base as H. Wagner's and rolled into center field. Musial was trapped off second base and finally run down, Ferriss to Higgins who made the tag near third base. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Red Sox: Walker ran back about ten paces and gathered in Masi's long fly. Pesky rapped a third base single just inside the foul line for the first hit of the game. DiMaggio's first of the series. DiMaggio chopped a high bouncer along the first base line where Musial made the tag for the putout. Pesky sliding into second. There

Total of $976,010.20 Spent On County Roads During Year

Warren county this year has been favored in road construction and not in many years has there been so much work done on the roads. In all, the sum of $976,010.20 has been expended for the work, done and Warren county residents during the months to come will enjoy the roads which have been given attention.

Tuesday afternoon a motor cavalcade headed by District Engineer W. A. Jackson, of Franklin, toured a portion of the county and viewed the work that has been done both by the county highway department and by various contractors who have been at work.

The motorcade rolled out over most of the new roads and incidentally were given some wonderful views of Warren county foliage. All in the party were enthusiastically over the foliage coloring in the vicinity of Torpedo.

The county employees have established a record this year and have built 29.05 miles of construction of the flexible type in Warren county at an estimated cost of $167,106.20. Work was started on the authorized roads early in the spring and work is even now being carried on. These roads were constructed in addition to the other work of the department and 46.67 miles of roadway were given surfact treatment at a cost of $68,500. Care and maintenance of highway signs and the storing of chinders for winter's use were also carried on and the department last spring also was called upon to remove several huge slides that came as the result of the heavy rains experienced.

In addition to the work done by the highway department three big jobs were underway on the widening and blacktopping of Route 62 between Irvine and the Forest county line. Repairs on the Tidewater bridge that cost a large sum when the job was done by the Casey Company. The work performed by the contractors cost the county $403,954. All of this work has been completed with the exception of the stretch from Wildwood to Wildwood and this work will be 75% completed this fall.

The record made is an excellent one and is in line with what is being done over the state as little new construction has been ordered due to the fact that contractors refuse to bid on any big construction jobs due to the shift in the labor and material costs.

The engineers, however, were not budging as negotiations were resumed today and a spokesman

Rome Scene Of Bloodshed During Riots

Rome, Oct. 9.—(P)—Police and troops using tanks and armored cars fought for three hours before the Vittoriano Palace, seat of government, today with demonstrators led by workmen protesting their dismissal from a public project.

A government communiqué said one person died of injuries and 79 others were injured. Police announced earlier that three had been killed and leaders of the 20,000 to 30,000 demonstrators assert that at least eight were slain.

Scores of bullet marks pocked the palace.

Government officials and the head of the Italian Communist party, Palmiro Togliatti, retreated from a palace balcony, where they were attempting to quiet the angry mob, when pistol shots were fired in the air.

The workers' ranks were swelled by homeless war veterans and refugees from a camp on the edge of the city.

At one time, some members of the throng penetrated the palace as far as the office of Premier Alcide De Gasperi, but were pushed back after they had smashed furniture and windows elsewhere in the building.

A government communiqué early this afternoon said 50 of the demonstrators and 29 policemen were injured. It did not specify whether the dead man was an officer or rioter.

The trolley men are idle because they refused, in two votes of their membership, to pass power union picket lines.

If this makes them "strikers," they must wait five weeks before they can start drawing $20 a week unemployment compensation. However, if they are not on strike themselves, they can start collecting jobs pay immediately.

The confederators planned separate sessions with company and union negotiators today in an attempt to settle union demands for a 20 percent pay raise which would boost the average hourly rate from $1.12 to $1.41.

The National Labor Relations Board scheduled for tomorrow a hearing on whether to hold a collective bargaining election for a group of 700 Duquesne Light Co. production and maintenance workers who seek to break away from the independent union.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(P)—The American Federation of Labor moved today to head off strike-control and other restrictive labor measures it anticipates in the next congress and sessions of state legislatures.

The AFL convention devoted its sessions to an explanation of AFL strategy against such measures from Joseph Padwa, AFL general counsel.

Delegates already have heard AFL President William Green call for a mass march to the polls in November of all the AFL's 7,150,000 members to defeat the enemies of labor and support its friends.

Washington, Oct. 9.—(P)—Coal miners have hitched their wagon to a cow and it looks like a long, hard pull.

Capt. N. H. Collission, the government's coal mines administrator, said today the meat shortage means that miners now find it difficult to obtain:

1. Enough to eat.
2. Soap.
3. Explosives.

Collission told a reporter he has received many complaints from miners who cried, "no meat, no coal!" and yesterday Charles Dorrance, president of the West Virginia Coal and Coke Corp., wired him:

"Coal miners need soap as well as meat, because they get grimy as well as hungry."

OIL DRAINED IN MACHINERY AT PLANT

8,000 Consumers in Large Area Without Current While Load is Being Transferred

NO SETTLEMENT SEEN

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—(P)—The Duquesne Light Company reported today that an unattached automatic sub-station serving a populous residential section had been "sabotaged," plunging the district into a temporary blackout on the 16th day of a power strike.

The company spokesman said the Brentwood sub-station, where 66,000-volt current is reduced to 4,000 volts for residential use, was shut down by a break which he called, without qualification, an act of sabotage.

He said that the break occurred about 3 a. m. and that investigation showed a door to the station had been forced and valves opened, permitting oil lubricating the machinery to drain off.

Eight thousand homes in the Brentwood, Carrick, Baldwin township and Pleasant Hills areas were without power for four hours while the load was transferred to other sub-stations.

The company appealed to consumers in the area to reduce their power usage to a strict emergency basis.

It was the second time in the prolonged power strike that the company has charged sabotage in a power failure. Last week the industrial city of Clairton was temporarily blacked out. A rope across power line caused a short circuit.

Sheriff Walter Monaghan said the rope could only have been placed across the lines by electricians conducting an orderly strike and would continue to do so. He could not be reached for comment on the Brentwood break.

The company said the 8,000 outlets in the area served by the Brentwood station represented 30,000 persons and that the two damaged transformers cost $50,000 each. A "thorough check will be necessary" to determine whether the transformers can be repaired, the company said.

The first death resulting indirectly from the power strike as reported today, James Cox, 15, died of burns suffered Oct. 2 when he scaled a power company tower and touched a high tension wire. The youth was unable to attend school because of a strike-induced transportation tieup and was injured while on a hike.

Meanwhile, the strike, apparently as far from settlement as when it started, posed a question for the Pennsylvania Bureau of Unemployment Compensation—whether the city's 2,700 idle street car operators are "strikers" or merely "unemployed."

The trolley men are idle because they refused, in two votes of their membership, to pass power union picket lines.

If this makes them "strikers," they must wait five weeks before they can start drawing $20 a week unemployment compensation. However, if they are not on strike themselves, they can start collecting jobs pay immediately.

North Warren Firemen Have Fine Contest

In the promotion of the National Fire Prevention Week observance, the North Warren Volunteer Fire Department has staged a fine poster contest in the community's school, every grade and teacher cooperating in the effort.

A total of 223 posters greeted the judges, Gerda Lawrence, Betty Blair and Dorothea Lincoln, of Warren school system. With only a week's notice and time to prepare the posters, coupled with the fact the Conewango township schools have no regular art teacher, the work turned out was amazingly fine.

Winners have been placed on display in the North Warren post office and it is hoped all in the community will find opportunity to look them over.

Judged best for the entire school was a poster done by Fay Ollson, sixth grader, with Janet Ward receiving honorable mention. Other winners, by grades, were as follows:

1st, Sandra Norris; 2nd, Tim Gerraty; 3rd, Maxine Rowand; 4th, Carolyn Sadler; 5th, Mary Hutson; 6th, a tie between Janet Thompson and Constance Samuelson; 7th, Doris Sharp; 8th, Joyce Smith; special training room, William Knaley.

So different were some of the decisions that judges awarded the following honorable mentions by grades: 1st, Judy Peterson and Andrew Jackson; 2nd, Joyce Zibbe; 3rd, Marjorie Biddle; 4th, Keith McDonald and Billy Atkins; 5th, Robert Barthe; 6th, Billy Stevenson and Patty Fronterro; 7th, Ronald Carlson; 8th, Carlton Jones; special training room, Ray English.

Steel Work In Place On Shop At Airport

Work on the new shop which is being built close to the hangar at the Warren Airport is progressing but slowly. The steel for the addition arrived some weeks ago and has all been put in place. Bids have been advertised for in an effort to secure doors and windows and roofing for the shop. The bids were to be opened at the Council meeting held Monday evening but no bids were received. The work will accordingly be delayed. It had been hoped to have the building enclosed before bad weather came and the backwork placed later.

Every effort will be made by the committee to carry on the work and complete the work as planned but the outlook is rather discouraging at present.

The airport is now just about the busiest it has ever been in its history with the large G I classes under way. The instructors at the airport are working hard with the many would-be fliers and interest in the work is high. Planes are in the air nearly all hours of the day and several of the students have soloed and are now building up time.

Clouds May Hide Display Of Meteorites

This evening if the clouds are not too heavy you may get a squint at one of the awe inspiring fireworks displays of Dame Nature. It promises to be one of the most spectacular celestial displays in history. It is scheduled by the star gazers to start about 10 p. m. this evening and will be caused by the comet Giacobini-Zinner shedding millions of meteorites.

The head of the comet zipped past old Mother Earth nine days ago but it was 4,000,000 miles away and few noticed it in the skies.

Tonight the fiery tail of meteoroids will be 131,000 miles away about half the distance to the moon. It was to be visible to the naked eye over the eastern half of the United States and Canada but the weather man says rain and clouds may hide the display.

Astronomers are reluctant to risk too positive predictions. Dr. Fred L. Whipple of Harvard Observatory, a world authority on meteors, cautions: "No certain prediction can be made concerning the magnitude of any meteor shower." He remembers the hope that had been built up in 1899 when both astronomers and the public was disappointed.

"The watch for a shower of meteoroids is similar to a days fishing trip" states Dr. Leland E. Cunningham, comet enthusiast at the University of California. "A fisherman knows the fish are there somewhere about but cannot know ahead of time whether he will catch any of them. So it is with meteoroids; we know there are millions of cosmic specks near the earth on October 9 but we don't know whether they will come close enough to the earth for it to 'catch' some of them in its atmosphere and make them flash as meteoroids."

Rediscovery of the Giacobini-Zinner comet late in May by Dr. Hamilton M. Jeffers of Lick Observatory, California set the stage for the celestial fireworks this fall. The comet was located close to the position obviously calculated by the British Astronomer, F. R. Cripps. The comet takes about six and one-half years to travel around its orbit but only when it approaches the earth and our planet runs into its dust, as in 1803 and again this year, is there a good chance of a spectacular meteor shower.

Steel Work In Place On Shop At Airport

Work on the new shop which is being built close to the hangar at the Warren Airport is progressing but slowly. The steel for the addition arrived some weeks ago and has all been put in place. Bids have been advertised for in an effort to secure doors and windows and roofing for the shop. The bids were to be opened at the Council meeting held Monday evening but no bids were received. The work will accordingly be delayed. It had been hoped to have the building enclosed before bad weather came and the backwork placed later.

Every effort will be made by the committee to carry on the work and complete the work as planned but the outlook is rather discouraging at present.

The airport is now just about the busiest it has ever been in its history with the large G I classes under way. The instructors at the airport are working hard with the many would-be fliers and interest in the work is high. Planes are in the air nearly all hours of the day and several of the students have soloed and are now building up time.

CONSISTORY REUNION
The regular October Reunion of the Coudersport Consistory will be held October 14, 15 and 16 and it is anticipated that it will be a large attended affair. Many from Warren will attend and it is expected that about a dozen Warren men will attend the sessions and receive membership in the Consistory.

HUB CAPS STOLEN
Dr. John Thompson, of Youngsville was called to the hospital last night at 11 o'clock and when he emerged he found that some miscreant had stolen all four hub caps from his automobile. The machine was a new 1946 Oldsmobile and hub caps are hard to replace under present conditions. A report has been made to the police and they are investigating.

BUTTER HIGH PRICED
Butter in local stores this week has been selling for 90 cents the pound and eggs have been fetching 72 cents the dozen. In spite of high prices the two articles of food have been finding ready sale. Housewives have about cleared the shelves of Warren stores of canned meats, canned fish and other commodities that can be served as meat substitutes.

WORK IS PROGRESSING
Captain Joseph Shearer reports that work of forming the new National Guard unit in Warren is progressing but slowly. Capt. Shearer is at armory almost every evening and any persons interested may call. He is anxious to enlist youths of 18 who will be inducted into the army later and he feels that the training received with the guard unit would save them much trouble later when they do enter the service.

INTERESTING PICTURES
In the window of the sales room of the Kaiser-Frazer automobile company there are some most interesting pictures on display. They show the work of the assembly lines at the plant across of the engines being built for the cars and the shipping platforms where the cars are being shipped by rail. The company is getting into full production rapidly. Erie and several other towns in this vicinity now have the new cars on display.

BITTEN BY DOGS
Report has been made to the police of two children having been bitten by dogs. Stuart Kornreich, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kornreich, was bitten and medical attention had to be sought. A 4 year old girl named Scallise was also bitten and she, too, had to be treated by a physician. Police have ordered the dogs tied up for observation. All dog owners are warned that dogs cannot run loose and will be picked up by police if found on the streets.

PREPARE FOR WINTER
Work is being done at the Marcom Outing Club in preparation for the winter season. The heating system is being overhauled and other improvements made that will make the place cozy while the winds whistle off of doors. Plans are now being laid for a number of important bookings during the winter season and Frank Williams in charge of that work anticipates bringing to the city some of the best floor shows it has ever been the good fortune of Warren crowds to see.

AMBULANCE WRECKED
The ambulance of W. E. Lutz was damaged to the extent of about $400 Monday in a crash at the intersection of Oneida avenue and Crescent Park avenue. Allen VerMilyea was driving the ambulance and as he entered the intersection he noted a truck of the Hanson Trucking Company, of Jamestown, approaching. It failed to stop and Mr. Vermilyea stepped on the brakes to stop and the ambulance skidded some distance. In the crash with the truck the ambulance was badly wrecked, but the truck escaped with about $10 damage.

STARTING TO KILL
Employees of the Consolidated Turkey Farm on the Big Four road have started to kill the big birds which have been raised on the farm this season. The birds are in fine shape and are fairly golden in color due to the excellent feeding which they have been given. The kill will be continued now until the holidays as many of the birds are reaching the stage where they are prime for the table. Many of the birds have been shipped to out of town buyers and are bringing enthusiastic letters back to the farm relative to the huge breasts and excellent quality of the turkeys.

COMING TO WARREN
A representative from the Erie Field Office of the Social Security Board, which serves this area will be at the Employment Service Office, 225 Pennsylvania Avenue, W., Warren, Pennsylvania, at 1:30 p. m. October 14, 1946, it was announced today by Bernard A. Farabaugh, manager of the District office of Erie, Pennsylvania. Persons desiring information relative to social security account numbers, claims for old-age and survivors insurance payments, or other matters pertaining to the Social Security Act, are invited to call upon the Board's representative. Office hours are held in Warren, Pennsylvania every second and fourth Monday of each month.

Local C. of C. Aiding Dinner At Olean Hotel

The Warren Chamber of Commerce is acting as a co-sponsor with other chambers in this area, along with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, at a National Affairs dinner meeting to be held at Olean, Wednesday evening, October 16th. It was announced today by Edward W. Johnson, President of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner will be attended by members of local National Affairs Committees, officers and directors in this region. It will be held at the Olean House, starting promptly at 7:00 that evening.

Donald Marcellus

At the meeting there will be a discussion of effective methods of promoting a broader understanding of important legislation before Congress and means of effecting closer cooperation between localities and their representatives in Congress.

The United States Chamber of Commerce will be represented by Donald Marcellus, Manager of the national organization's Northeastern Division, and Truman D. Weller, National Advisor of the chamber's Department of Governmental Affairs. Both men will speak before the group and Mr. Marcellus will lead the floor discussion at the conclusion of the meeting.

Car Wrecked When It Rolls Over at Curve

A 1936 Ford sedan owned by Lyle Brecht, 106 Lincoln avenue was wrecked about 4 o'clock this morning when the driver failed to make the curve at the old gun cotton plant. The machine evidently being driven at high speed rolled over and the top was stove in, fenders bent, etc., in the crash. The report of the car rolling off the roadway was heard by a large number in the vicinity.

State police called to the scene found that the driver had been picked up by passing car. Feeling that he might have been injured investigation was made, at the hospital but no one had been brought in there. The person who picked up the man is asked to report to the state police barracks so that the investigation may be completed.

Plans Ready For Grading Athletic Field

Representatives of the Chester Engineering Company have been in the city recently with plans and blue prints for the preliminary work at the new War Memorial Athletic Field. The blue prints and plans will be placed in the hands of local contractors within a few days. They are comprehensive and will also include certain features for the drainage of the field as well as the clearing and grading.

The executive committee anticipates that a large amount of work can be done this fall so that with the coming of spring the task of enclosing the field may be undertaken.

The site of the proposed park has been surveyed and staked out and there will be a large amount of material removed from the field before the grading work can be speeded up in good shape and with a certain amount of good weather some surprising results may be obtained.

Business Women Hear a Fine Talk On Mental Health

Dr. Robert H. Israel, superintendent of Warren State Hospital, was guest speaker for the October meeting of Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, giving a fine talk on mental illness and the reasons why every person in the community should have a personal interest in this topic and the institution where the disease is treated.

Introduced by Helen Dickinson, club member and dietitian at the hospital, Dr. Israel pointed out that every person should be interested from the standpoint of being tax payers; for the general welfare of the community; in seeing that standards are maintained, and for the personal and selfish reason that one in ten persons is himself subject to mental illness. He pointed out that mental illness is no respecter of any known factor, age, mental ability, financial standing, since every person at some time or other is liable to emotional upset, stressing the importance of receiving any form of mental illness in its very earliest stages, the speaker explained some of the forms of therapy used, decrease in mortality, and the percentage of cures effected.

The meeting followed dinner served at a long table placed in the Girl Reserve room and decorated with autumn leaves and a large brown earthenware jug filled with orange Japanese lanterns and brown cat tails. Sprigs of bitter-sweet berries were attached to each place card. The Club Collect was recited as the members were seated for dinner and group singing between courses was in charge of Viola Lindmark and Evelyn Wolstencroft.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Earl Fenderson, reports were given by Dorothy Baker, Ethel Patchen, Violet Peterson and Elizabeth Brasington, the latter joining with Olive Phillips in bringing a review of the happenings at the recent District One convention in Erie. Miss Brasington also reported on the very successful rummage sale held by the club in September. Miss Peterson spoke of letters received from the Foster Parents Plan, and after some discussion, members voted to meet at the home of the president next Monday evening to dress dolls to be sent to some of the overseas children under care of the organization.

The club voted a gift of $25 to the Community Chest Fund and to continue its cash membership in Needlework Guild. Off to an early start, many members brought to this meeting their gifts to be turned in for the fall Needlework Guild collection. It was also voted to finance music lessons for the club's "adopted" boy at the Hoffman Home, his two sisters ready having had a year of such instruction. Attention was called to National Business Women's week, October 14-16, and the National Education Week observance in November.

"Spooks' Swing" Provides Theme Of Next Frolic

The Committee on Community Recreation has announced a "Spooks' Swing" for the next community party at Beaty school on Saturday, October 19th. The age will be limited at this party for the young people from Beaty freshmen through the early twenties.

Last Saturday's community night for young people deserves special mention for the unusually amusing and original decorations. The murals by John Erickson and Dick Kaufman hit just the note the teens and twenties like, with a Kilroy twist to the Columbus voyages.

Jo Ann Phillips and Rita Scrivano, co-chairmen for October, have already announced all their committee heads for the "Spooks' Swing". Bill Hill will emcee the show which includes films, a line-up. There will be no try-outs for this floor show but auditions for November will be announced next week.

Janie Helman will again take charge of the refreshments stands. Connie McNulty and Carol Nelson are co-chairmen on decorations. Charles Sherman is handling setup; Don Peterson, checker; Harold Crockett, games; Mike D'Angelo, lights; Charles Cochener, P. A. system.

There will be a freshmen clean-up squad at the party, with Betty Scrivano in charge.

Creed Erickson Junior's Orchestra has been booked by the committee to furnish the music for dancing in the gymnasium.

All committee chairmen are asked to attend a short check-up meeting Monday evening at seven o'clock in the high school study hall.

Mission Study Group Chooses Officer Slate

The executive committee of the Interdenominational Mission Study Group held its first fall meeting in First Baptist church, with Mrs. C. W. Edgett, chairman, in charge. The session opened with prayer by the chairman, followed by reports of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Nason. Mrs. E. P. Huck, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following names and all were unanimously elected:

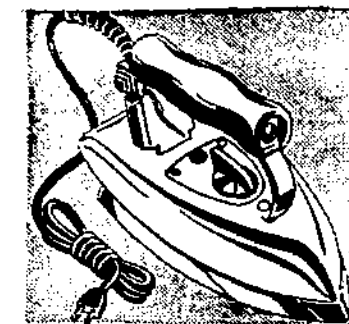

Chairman, Mrs. Ernest Kaebnick, vice chairman, Mrs. L. E. Nason; secretary, Mrs. J. E. Walters; treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Herick; program committee, Mrs. T. E. Mahaffey, Mrs. Earl Christensen, Mrs. S. B. Caldwell, Mrs. Gerald Fleming and Mrs. Harold Nelson.

HANDICAPPED PEOPLE

This is Employ The Handicapped Week. But what does that mean? At whom is it aimed? Who is a handicapped person?

An Associated Press writer answers these questions in the following feature story sent out from Washington:

A person who—disabled in some way, physically or mentally—isn't doing the job he thinks he can do best, or has no job, or lacks training for a job he thinks could give him a living.

Such a handicapped person might be a blind man, a man with one eye, or one leg, or a bad heart, or an arrested case of tuberculosis.

Employ the handicapped week is aimed:

1. At employers. To get them interested in employing handicapped people or finding jobs for them where they can work best.
2. At handicapped people themselves. To let them know there are places where they can go for help in finding jobs, or better jobs, or training for jobs.

(This week is not aimed directly at disabled war veterans. They can get help from the Veterans Administration.)

For every disabled veteran, there are about five handicapped civilians. There are, according to government estimate, about 1,500,000 such handicapped civilians.

This is how a handicapped person can go about getting help:

Every state has a Vocational Rehabilitation Office, usually in the state capital, although some states may have branch offices.

Sometimes this rehabilitation office may be called a welfare office.

If you're a handicapped person and don't know how to get in touch with the state rehabilitation office, ask your local Red Cross or Community Chest or some other social service organization for guidance.

The system has been set up to work like this:

Say you've been disabled. You no longer can do the job which had given you a living. You feel there must be some other kind of work you could do. But what kind?

You apply to your state's Vocational Rehabilitation Office. There, to start, you get a medical examination. If you need medicine, or a surgical operation, or hospitalization, you get it.

The government stands behind this whole program, for it has an agency of its own, called the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation in Washington. The government helps out the states in this program.

For every dollar spent by the states on this work, the government puts up a dollar, and then some. Last year the states spent $4,000,000, the government $10,000,000. This year the states expect to spend $5,000,000, the government $14,000,000.

NO SURPRISE

Our Ambassador to Yugoslavia, Mr. Patterson, expresses himself as being shocked at the action of the Belgrade government in closing down the American State Department's information service in the Yugoslav capital. Actually, the move was predictable and should surprise and shock no one.

The American information program was charged with inciting Yugoslavs to "open treason", apparently because it went counter to the official propaganda line of the government. This charge, too, was one that might readily have been expected.

Last winter three eminent journalists toured Europe and reported back on the state of our overseas information program at that time. One of the committee, Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, pointed out that we needed government news to counteract "interpretation" of commercial news dispatches from America by other governments.

Apparently this need was met. And our naive declaration that this was an "information" rather than a "propaganda" service—while perhaps a true one—was scarcely enough to convince a government which neither practices nor believes in the American definition of a free press.

The unhappy fate of our information bureau in Yugoslavia points up the inevitable waste of money and effort on a pious governmental project before any international agreement had been reached on free access and exchange of news throughout the world.

SERIOUS TALK OF HORSE MEAT

Serious talk of horse meat as a staple of our national diet is increasing. Well, there must be a lot of racing fans who will agree that a great many "platters" running around now would look better on the Blue Plate Special than on the track.

Another Housing Problem

The illustration shows an eagle with its wings spread wide, perched on a small house. The eagle's wings are labeled "RAPIDLY EXPANDING AIR TRAFFIC". The house is labeled "AIRPORT FACILITIES IN MOST ANY AMERICAN CITY". The eagle is looking down at the house, and the house is looking up at the eagle.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

Anyone who desires to laugh himself into a blissful state of humor and helplessness will do well to attend the final showing of "It's an Old Army Game" starring Bill Fields at the Library Theatre.

At the meeting of the Firemen's Relief Association to be held next Monday night, it is probable that the by-laws of the association, which now provide a payment of $18 per week for volunteer firemen who are disabled in the line of duty, will be changed to the same basis as the paid men of the department as they now come under state compensation.

Dr. Hugh Robertson left this morning for Philadelphia where he will attend the annual meeting of the State Medical society, beginning Monday.

Although considerable weakened by the loss of three regulars, the Youngville High football squad gives due notice that it is going into tomorrow's game with Titusville to win.

The house located on the Keller property, adjacent to the Times office, is being torn down by R. W. Norris, who purchased the land.

Superintendent John Rossman of the local schools has returned from Harrisburg where he attended the two-day Pennsylvania Education Congress.

With the cooperation of the Warner Water Company, firemen this morning made tests of hydrants in the business district and also took water pressure readings.

Although many counties in the state may be unable to use voting machines in the November election, present indications are to the effect that this will not be the case in Warren.

Workmen on the Warren Airport improvement project have started haul gravel for the first three runways to be constructed. The work is being done by hand now but it is expected that a steam shovel will be on hand to speed up and finish the project.

Otto Township High gridders invade the home field of the Youngville Eagles tomorrow afternoon to inaugurate athletic relations between the two schools.

Stamp News

THREE South American countries — Venezuela, Chile and Colombia — have issued stamps this year in tribute to Andres Bello, Venezuelan statesman, educator and writer. In each case the stamps mark the 80th anniversary last year of his death in 1865.

Bello, born at Caracas in 1781, served all three nations as secretary to their legations in London from 1810 to 1829. Later he settled in Santiago, Chile, where he aided in founding the national university. Chile previously had honored him by picturing him on a stamp (Scott's 229) of its 1942 University of Chile centenary set. The Venezuelan stamps are 20 centimos blue postage and 30-cent green airmail Chile issued 40 centavos and 1.80 pesos stamps bearing his portrait. Colombia's set consists of four stamps.

At the same time as the Bello stamps appeared, Venezuela also issued stamps of the same denominations and colors picturing General Rafael Urdaneta, its president in 1830-31, to mark the 100th anniversary, also in 1945, of his death.

THE influence that the late President Roosevelt had on postal matters and stamp collecting through his own personal interest in philately continues to be recognized more than a year after his death.

From Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, comes word that the Fifth Postal Union Congress of the Americas and Spain, in session there during September, honored Mr. Roosevelt posthumously by electing him an honorary president of the Congress.

THE Post Office Department is currently providing numerous "first flight" services as new air-mail routes are opened and new innovations such as "flying mail cars," on which mail is sorted in flight, are tested. Unfortunately, little advance notice is given for these special cachet flights. Cover collectors' best source for information concerning such flights are the Postal Bulletins, sent to all post offices for display. Even then, some collectors may find the announcements too late to send a cover on such a flight.

COLLECTORS of stamps picturing sports will want to add a new Russian adhesive to their collection. The new 30 kopecks green was issued in honor of the "All Russian Parade of the Physical Culturalists," according to J. and H. Stolow of New York.

It pictures a parade of athletes with the leader bearing the Soviet banner, followed by a group holding aloft a medallion portrait of Premier Stalin and massed flags of various organizations.

SYRIA has overprinted four of its stamps to mark the Eighth Arab Medical Congress held in August. . . . Five postage and four airmail stamps from Mexico commemorate the 400th anniversary of the founding of the city of Zatecas. . . . Canadians expect postal rate changes as a result of the reduction in United States airmail rates. Speculators foresee changes in the entire postal rate schedule, because the new Canadian Reconstruction Issue does not include new stamps for the one to five-cent denominations. . . .

THE Navy will apply special rubber stamp souvenir markings to letters mailed aboard six vessels as part of its Navy Day observance Oct. 27. The vessels will be the battleship Missouri, the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, the cruiser Augusta, the destroyer Frank Knox, the submarine Flying Fish and the amphibious force flagship Taconic. Each cachet will be different in design.

Collectors desiring the special cachets may mail addressed, stamped envelopes for mailing on any or all six vessels to the Director of Public Information, Navy Department, Washington 25, D. C., by Oct. 15. At least three inches of clear space to the left of the address is required for the cachet.

Operation Lighthouse

Ever see a telephone switchboard:::at the busy hours:::in this busy year of 1946?

It's quite a sight: Every glowing light means a call in action: And this year we're handling more calls than ever before!

That's why the operator can't always answer your call promptly! Sometimes, at peak hours, so many lights come on at once that we can't carry all the load without some delays:

But these delays are usually brief:::and we assure you they are only temporary. As soon as we can get the materials for needed new equipment, you'll find service better than ever. In the meantime, you can help a lot by making calls, when possible, before or after the busy hours. We hope you'll understand. Thank you!

SITTING on bare pine planks worn smooth by the many who had been alone with their consciences in this same cell before him, Martin King learned for the first time what it was to hate a murderer.Footsteps rang in the corridor, a key scraped and Cloud entered as the door of the cell was opened by a shirt-sleeved guard.
"Make yourself at home," Martin said. "Have a chair and put up your feet while I bake a cake."The detective was not amused.
He regarded Martin earnestly but without sympathy. He said,
"Now's your chance to play fair with me, King. I know things I didn't know before. You can still tell the truth before it pops up and hits you in the teeth.""You want me to confess. Is that it?"
"If you killed Searle, why not?"
"I didn't kill him. I don't know any more about it than you do, if as much.""All right. You've still got some things to explain. Mary Smith, for instance.""I told you I didn't think that was her right name.""King, you're the biggest damned fool I've met in a long time."Martin had an uneasy feeling that this was no exaggeration, but he grinned and said, "You talk like a city editor. Maybe you missed your calling.""Maybe I did. Isn't it traditional in the newspaper business that no murder story can rate as tops unless it has a romantic angle? A secret love affair, with one party risking all to protect the other, ought to fill the bill.""Sometimes a love child helps," Martin strove to keep his tone humorous.Martin opened his mouth and shut it again.CLOUD went on calmly, "Do you want to let down your hair and tell me when you first fell in love with her?""When I first—?" His voice rang hoarsely in his own ears.
"What the devil are you getting at?""She talked with me."
"What did she tell you?"
"Everything I asked her. Mostly about Mary Smith."Martin growled, "She hasn't got a brain in her head. I told her to keep her mouth shut.""Why?"
"Good God, isn't it obvious?
Here I'm all mixed up in a homicide because you're too dumb to find the real killer. That's bad enough by itself without having a girl mixed up in it with me.
That's why I invented Mary Smith, a girl you'd never be able to drag into it.""An interesting statement, King.
Extraordinarily interesting, since you trotted out Mary Smith before I mentioned that anyone had been killed. Such foresight is commendable to say the least.""Commendable? It was suicidal, Martin thought. He said, "The murder gave me an added reason for sticking to the story. The original reason was that it was no-body's business who I went out with. Too many people would say I was trying to get my job back by making a play for Ennis's daughter. As if I'd ever work for Ennis again under any circumstances.""How did you happen to be out with her?""I wanted company to get my mind off my troubles and she seemed like a good kid in spite of her old man. I guess I had an idea
I might find out more about why Ennis killed that story of mine, too; he didn't unbosom himself to me wholeheartedly, and I was naturally curious as well as sore."

"Did you find out?"

"I don't think we mentioned it, as it turned out. She did talk about my losing my job and said she could probably fix things so Icould go back. I told her not to bother and I meant it.""Where did you meet her?"
This was the sixty-four-dollar question. Martin thought. What had Barbara told Cloud? They had entered Rossetti's together, but where had they started from? Not the Gold Mine Club; he had left there nearly an hour ahead of her. Besides, how did he know that she had not broken down altogether and given Cloud the whole truth about her visit to Martin's apartment and the discovery of Searle's body, so that anything he said to the contrary would only strengthen the web of lies in which he was caught?"Not far from the Gold Mine Club," he hazarded. "A little distance down the street. I didn't want to go back into the joint after the excitement."Cloud took his notebook from his pocket and made a mark on one of the pages. His expression was inscrutable.
"I came here to tell you you're free to go and devote yourself to your own devices.""Under surveillance?"
"No, indeed. If you didn't do it, we don't care to waste manpower on you. If you did you'll have to incriminate yourself."Cloud opened an inner door.
"Mind stopping in my office for a minute, King? I want to check one or two items with you."

Martin followed obligingly.

"There's a small item I want cleared up, too. About Barbara Ennis and your ridiculous idea that I'm in love with her, in case you were serious when you made that crack. I may be the biggest damned fool you've run across in a month of blue moons, but—"He stopped then, just within the doorway, blushing to the roots of his hair and wishing with all his heart that Cloud had left him under lock and key. For Barbara was sitting in the shabby little office, pale and tired and lovely, looking at him out of hazel eyes that were wide and puzzled.At his desk Cloud said dryly,
"You certainly are."

Handicapped Workers Well Placed Here"It's not what is gone but what is left that counts when an employer considers a handicapped veteran for permanent employment," David Levine, Manager of the local USES office said today in cutting the objectives of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week October 6-12.Burgess Crossett has issued a proclamation setting aside this week for observance by borough residents. In his proclamation the Burgess cited the excellent record of handicapped persons during the war while the able-bodied were on the fighting front.Pointing out that many veterans and war workers acquired some form of handicap as a result of the war, USES Manager Levine said it is the obligation of everyone to help handicapped persons to obtain employment for which they are qualified."Few handicapped persons," he said, "will accept work which they are not qualified to perform. Some are qualified for certain types of work but are not aware of their abilities. It is the job of the USES to advise and counsel such workers, and, when the skill or ability is found, to refer the worker to an employer who is in need of the particular skill or ability."Mr. Levine said that more than 68 handicapped workers had been referred to jobs in Warren County during the past three months. Others are waiting for referral to the right job, he said. Many employers so far have been most cooperative in hiring these workers but more jobs for the handicapped are needed to aid applicants at USES offices, Mr. Levine said.

Blue Stocking Club President's Day Inaugurates Fall and Winter Program

President's Day at the Woman's Club, official opening of the fall and winter program, was observed on Tuesday with a beautifully appointed luncheon served to members and guests at the YWCA auditorium. Building Crystal candelabra were used for white candles and white snowberries with blue ageratum, yearbooks in blue and gold and additional touch of color. Appointments were the work of the committee, the Misses Mabel Siggs and Mabel Abbott.

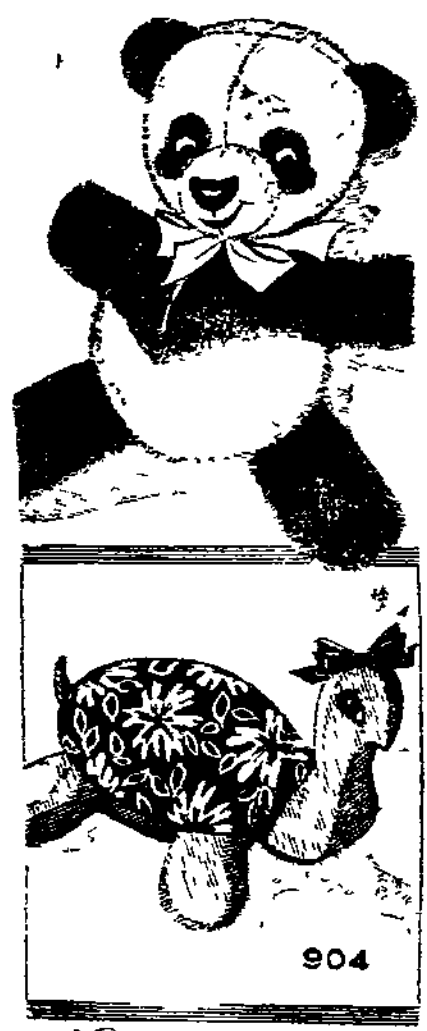

As guests were seated, grace was given by Mrs. H. H. Barr. Following the serving, the newly elected president, Mrs. F. L. Plummer, welcomed the following guests: Mrs. C. A. Weld, Ashville, Miss Alice Siggs, West Hickory, Mrs. John R. McLaughlin and Mrs. Lyle N. Schuler, also two new members, Mrs. Robert Beatty and Mrs. E. Koshley.

Adjourning to the parlors, a brief business meeting included reading of the minutes by Mrs. B. R. Walker and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Edith Smith. The resignation of Mrs. Edward Walker was read and accepted with regret.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was H. C. Putnam, president of the Allegheny Valley Improvement Association, who talked of early rafting days and navigation on the Allegheny prior to the oil discovery at Oil City and advent of low railroad bridges over the river of iceboat and steamboat traffic between Pittsburgh and Olean, the increasing need for river transportation; the formation of the organization he represents, and the evils of the proposed Kinzua dam.

This last, he asserted, is an objection of the engineers and Pittsburgh business interests, with flood control as camouflage, and the real reason a need for fresh water supply for dilution of mine acid streams farther down the valley. The resulting lake behind the dam would be no second Chautauque Lake with unlimited resort possibilities, he said, but a body of Mrs. May Wallace, of Morrison, surface lined with mud banks and mosquitos. He pointed out, also,

Where Did You Catch Them?

Under that caption, a new kind of fish story is related by Rev. Wayne Furman, minister of First Methodist church, in an article featured in The Christian Science Advocate in conjunction with Methodist's Crusade for Christ. "During the evangelistic phase of the Crusade for Christ," he says, "we have been out fishing for men. It is to be hoped that we shall go on catching them; in fact, it will be tragic if we do not. If we think of the River of Jordan that Jesus and Peter and Andrew knew as a symbol of the Stream of Life, we shall discover that there are several points on this stream where we shall find the fishing good. The best mess of trout I ever caught I took from a little stream in the foothills of the Alleghenies which at first seemed too small to merit my attention. Similarly, in fishing for men, the small headwater brooks may surprise us with their yield. To pursue the figure farther, we might say that fish can be caught at the source of the Jordan, the place of baptism. None but a sincere Christian church member can possibly fulfill the vows taken by the parents when a child is presented for the sacrament. Many of the fish caught by our crusading church are taken from the Upper Jordan—the junior and youth ages. These fish are hard to lure but with youth church active Youth Fellowship mid-winter and summer institutes, and conferences, they are being caught in great numbers. The Sea of Galilee is a lover's paradise. Every young couple married by a clergyman should be a prospective home for the church. Most ministers have caught fish at this point on Galilee. There are no fish in the Lower Jordan, but men can be caught there. This is the place where adults sweat and toil in the business of earning a living. The Lower Jordan has lonely people. Many of them are new in the community. They are eager to make friends. The church that is alert to welcome new people as a growing church in Jordan's valley of toil and struggle there are tired people. The sick are to be found in the hot valley of the Lower Jordan. Yes, there are fish in the busy world of the Lower Jordan, and some of them are already on the line. The Jordan River terminates in the Dead Sea. Are there fish there? No, but there are men there, and we are fighting for them. God's mercy has no limits other than those determined by the human heart."

Virginia Dietsch Becomes the Bride Of Thomas Taraska

Mr. and Mrs. John Dietsch, 105 Center street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to Thomas Taraska, of Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martha Taraska, of Amherst, Mass., the ceremony having been performed at 3 p. m. on October 8 in Holy Redeemer rectory. Father M. E. Dailey officiating.

With a white bridal gown and veil, the bride carried white roses and orchids, showered with tiny roses and streamers. Her only jewelry was a wrist watch, gift of the bridegroom. Her attendant, Katherine Stowe, wore a frock of pink net, with matching veil and corsage of pink gladioli.

The bride's mother wore a small black feather hat and white roses with a long black frock and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Lucy Taraska, of Amherst, wore a black dress with multi-colored embroidery and white corsage.

Robert Omer, of Erie, was best man for Mr. Taraska.

A reception followed at the bride's home, the guest list of 75 including these additional out of town persons: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ohmer and daughter, Marjorie, Mr. and Mrs. William Tucker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rose and family, Erie; Mrs. Anna Halquist and family, Oil City.

The entire home was decorated with seasonal flowers and a four-tier wedding cake was flanked by white candles on the prettily appointed bride's table.

Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple are at home for the present at 105 Center street. For traveling, the bride chose black accessories with a gray suit and matching hat. A graduate of the local high school in 1942, she has since been employed by the New Process Company. Hostesses who have honored her with pre-nuptial affairs were Mrs. Merle Gaghan, Mrs. Fred Larder and Mrs. Clyde Drum; Mrs. Fred Koshley, Mrs. Anna Stowe and Miss Katherine Stowe.

Mr. Taraska, graduate of Amherst High School in 1942, served with the navy until January of this year.

Set for Maiden Trans-Ocean Trip—Six Years Late

Her maiden transAtlantic voyage delayed six years by the war, the U. S. Lines luxury ship America will sail for Europe at last. The America, brand new in 1940, made only a few coastal cruises before being stripped of her handsome fittings, renamed the USS West Point and pressed into war service as a transport. Our largest troopship, she carried nearly half a million fighting men to world war fronts. Photo above shows the America at Newport News, Va., after her reconversion.

Why the Balkans Are Still a "Powder Keg"

FOR MORE THAN 1000 YEARS THE BALKANS HAVE KNOWN WAR INTIMATELY. ONCE TRIBES BATTLED CONSTANTLY FOR THE FERTILE VALLEYS. THEN THE TURKS BECAME THE SCOURGE OF THE BALKANS; AFTER THAT SMALL NATIONS BATTLED AMONG THEMSELVES.

THE FIRST FLAMES OF WORLD WAR I SPREAD OUT FROM THE BALKANS AFTER THE ASSASSINATION OF ARCHDUKE FRANCIS OF AUSTRIA. IN WORLD WAR II, BULGARIA, HUNGARY, ROMANIA AND ALBANIA WERE LINED UP WITH THE AXIS, GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA FOUGHT HITLER AND TURKEY WAS NEUTRAL.

NOW THE BALKANS ARE SPLIT: GREECE AND TURKEY LEAN TO BRITAIN AND THE U.S., THE OTHER FOUR TO RUSSIA.

THE WESTERN ALLIES SAY BULGARIA, ROMANIA, YUGOSLAVIA VIOLATE AGREEMENTS ON FREE SPEECH AND FREE ELECTIONS AND THE U.S. GOT TOWN WITH YUGOSLAVIA ON THE SHOOTING DOWN OF AMERICAN PLANES.

THE U.S.S.R. SEEKS TERRITORY IN EASTERN TURKEY AND RAGES IN THE TURKISH-HELD DARDANELLES. SHE AND HER BALKAN SUPPORTERS SAY GREECE PERSECUTES LEFTISTS AND VIOLATES PEACE. IN SUCH CHARGES LIE SEEDS OF CONFLICT.

"My Sister Eileen" Promises To Be A "Strictly Must" For All Play - goers

The 47th public production of the Warren Players Club "My Sister Eileen" is well under way, and, if the rehearsals are any indication, the club has an outstanding hit on its hands.

The cast, a large one, is under the competent direction of Astrid Cowden, who has a long line of successful shows to her credit. "My Sister Eileen" has all the possibilities of reaching the top of her list. Mrs. Cowden's versatile directorial talents are put to good use in developing the many distinct yet diverse characters of this superb comedy.

The role of Ruth Sherwood is played by Ruth Jackson, who is a newcomer to the Players, yet displays the talent of a veteran. Elizabeth Anderson, as Eileen Sherwood, promises to surpass the many fine performances she has turned in the past. Lewis Critelli, well steeped in the theater and last seen in "Rhythmic Spirit", handles a large part of the comedy as Mr. Appolonia, a role that might have been tailor-made for him. David Smith, club president, turned plumber in the role of Jensen, along with William Moore as Longan, the cop; George Cunningham and Robert Specht as a pair of drunks, promise some of the lightest moments of any Players' show. Cunningham and Specht appear again in the more sober roles of an Argentine consul, a Russian doorman and a sand-hog.

Paradoxically, Barbara Dunham, a newcomer from New England, displays a southern accent as smooth as a Georgia peach, in the role of Helen Wade. Playing opposite her as The Wreck, John Miner adds to the love interest of a sort. Robert Cowden and John Mangus will be loved as the two little street urchins. Their debut makes them likely candidates for any Dead End Kids job of the future.

As the saying goes in the theater, they're always looking for new faces. Sea Trax as Violet Shelton is another recent addition to the club's new talent. A musical touch is added by the "Four Future Admirals", Richard Sealie, Louis Chimenti, Herbert Vall and Donald Valentine. The town will be talking about this conga team.

Ervin Rader, known for his comedy interpretations, has, in the role of Frank Lippencott, a vehicle in which he can go to town. Robert Gates as Chic Clark is another new face on the local stage this season. Frank Cruickshank, late of "Angel Street", portrays Robert Baker of the "Man-hatter", while Fred Plummer, another veteran, is cast as Mr. Sherwood, father of Ruth and Eileen. Gwen Knapp and Helen Morrow, who need no introduction to Warren play-goers, play the parts of Mrs. Wade and a prospective tenant, and Ken Graham, as Mr. Fletcher, round out this stellar cast.

The costumes for the production is in the capable hands of Betty Smith and Marian Sleeman.

"My Sister Eileen" is strictly in the hit class and Warren play-goers should mark it down as a strictly "must" for either Thursday or Friday, October 17 or 18.

Announcement was made of the session of the grand assembly to be held at Lottsville on October 19, with afternoon and evening meetings and dinner reservations to be made no later than October 15.

On Friday night of this week, members of the lodge will have a turn-out dinner, business session and at eight o'clock, will sponsor another card party to which the public is invited.

Personal Paragraphs

Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. My Wallace, of Morrison, were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O'Dell and children, of Warren, and Harley Eckert, of Erie.

Bill Paris, former well known local baseball and football player, is renewing acquaintances here after spending three years in Dhahran and RasTanura, Saudi Arabia, where he has been engaged in construction business. He expects to be in Warren several weeks.

Social Events

UNITED BRETHREN GROUPS ENJOY MEETING

Members of the Otterbein Guild and World Friendship Circle of the First United Brethren church were entertained recently with a missionary tea given by the women of the congregation. A splendid program was presented to the women and girls under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Harriger.

Devotions were given by Mrs. S. B. Caldwell, president of the Missionary Society, followed by a welcome to the girls by Mrs. J. H. Mong, and a welcome in verse written by Mrs. Harriger and given by Mrs. J. P. Leckliter. Mrs. Lyle Shearer and Mrs. D. E. Callahan pleased with a duet, and a stewardship book, "Partnership With Christ" was received by Mrs. L. E. Nason. Patricia Caldwell sang "In the Temple" and the program closed with the reading of another original poem by the presiding officer.

A social hour was enjoyed, with Mrs. Walter Hoyt and Mrs. D. E. Callahan serving from a table prettily decorated with fall flowers and candles.

LITERATURE DEPT. BEGINS NEW SEASON

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club started off its fall activities with a meeting and program at the clubhouse Monday afternoon. Officers for the year are Mrs. Wallace Cowden, chairman, Mrs. Howard Alexander, vice chairman, and Mrs. George Caldwell, secretary.

John G. Roseman, superintendent of Warren borough schools and guest speaker, gave a splendid review on the "Harvest Report" based on the theme "General Education in a Free Society". Mrs. Alexander, hostess for the afternoon, invited Mrs. W. E. Yeager and Mrs. E. W. Bloom to preside at the attractive tea table.

Next week's club meeting will be that of the Art Department, with Cornelia Chapin, New York sculptress, as the speaker.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, Oct. 7.—A special Rally Day program was held Sunday morning in the Methodist church. Each department of the church school had a part in this program. Following the opening hymn, prayer was offered by E. C. Stillings, teacher of the young peoples' class. The responsive reading was read by Mrs. Nellie Anderson, Supt. of the Church School.

Mrs. Warren Jones, Supt. of the Junior Department, gave recognition of the pupils of the Church school who have had perfect attendance of a year or more. Her announcement was as follows: Patricia Etheridge, 7 years; Ardson Johnson 4 years; Mary Ellen Caldwell 3 years; Laura Gibson 3 years; Mrs. Amos Lindborg 3 years; Warren Jones Jr. 3 years; Louise Gibson, Kenneth Knapp, Terry Barton, Irma Carlson and Jean Bowser each two years; Diane Etheridge, Ardelle Johnson, Joyce Reynolds and Mary Anne Shurwin each one year. Mrs. Mark Shurwin, Supt. of Youth, announced the program numbers.

The Nursery Group presented a little pantomime, "Church Bells Ringing".

The Beginners Group gave an exercise, "Abraham's Guest", and song. The 23rd Psalm was recited followed by an appropriate song by the Primary group. The Junior Girls presented the Lord's Prayer followed by a song. The Beatitudes were given by the Junior Boys. Donald Walter rendered a piano solo. The intermediate girls recited the Apostles Creed followed by the singing of the Gloria Patri.

Roy Billig of the young men's class rendered a trumpet solo. Rev. E. W. Chitester announced that the collection would be used for the education of Christian Young People. He also told effectively the story of the early life of Gypsy Smith, the noted evangelist.

Miss Janet Jones the S. S. School pianist, played the offertory and the collection was taken by the Junior boys. Mrs. Helen Bard acted as song leader. Following the closing song the benediction was pronounced by the pastor Rev. E. W. Chitester.

A very inspirational service was held at 7:30 p. m. in the Methodist church in connection with the candle light communion service.

WILLIAMS WILL HIT TODAY OR GO IN THE DOG HOUSE; BOO FERRISS MEETS DICKSON

By JACK HAND
Boston, Oct. 9.—(P)—Ted Williams' failure to foil the "Dyer Shift" with a third base bunt has put the Red Sox slugger on the baseball hot seat today as Boston prepares for its first World Series game since 1915 against the les game since 1915 against the conning St. Louis Cardinals. All even in their first two games at Sportsman's Park, the American League's runaway champs open at home this afternoon with their chief long distance power threat upset by the Cards' infield alignment.

Big Ted, the slim beanpole who missed the batting and home runs in his own league, continues to challenge the solid right field defense.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis team has tactfully admitted his fear of Williams' power by changing third baseman Whitey Kurovski into a second sacker every time Ted comes to bat, moving second baseman Red Schoendienst to a normal first base and playing Stan Musial on the right field foul line.

Ted said he tried to dump one down toward third in Monday's game and attempted to hit to left but was unable to carry out his plan because of Harry Brecheen's inside pitching.

The Cards figure that every time

Murry Dickson

Williams does try to hit to left instead of doing what comes naturally, they will have him pressing so hard he won't be of much use to the Sox.

While the fans, writers and ball players gossiped about the Williams affair, the weatherman cast a disturbing shadow over the Fenway Park opener with his prediction that it would be cloudy and cool with temperatures in the 50's.

RED RAIDERS TRAVEL HERE ON SATURDAY

Coach Denton Moon's charges, the Jamestown Red Raiders, will journey to Warren next Saturday afternoon to meet their long established enemies in the form of the local Dragon combine on Russell Field, the game starting at 2:30.

The Jintowners, favored by two touchdowns over the Dunkirk Crinsons, but were held to a 6-6 tie by that team.

In the last few years the Dragons have found the edge over the Jintown crew having lost to them 7-6 three years ago, came up to a 0-0 tie the year before last and defeating the Raiders 7-6 last year by virtue of Don Duckett's 97 yard interception run.

Our two injured backfield men, Frank Shanshala and Elmer Ditchess may see action in this game but it is still doubtful. Dave Lopez's injured ankle will probably be in good shape for the game. Dave was pulled from the DuBois clash twice because of the ankle.

The almost indistructable Ed Leonard will be set to go while the badly battered "Rube" Fischer will have his wounds nursed so that he may possibly start the game. Don Duckett will probably be in shape for the game Saturday; his ankle injury received in last week's game having nearly healed.

The High school rooters, instead of staging their nightly "snake dance" the night before the game that usually ends up in someone getting injured and much property damage being suffered, will hold their pep meeting immediately after school Friday afternoon.

The school refused to be made responsible for anything that happens at night and the police will no doubt be on the lookout for prowling Jamestowners and unheeding local celebrators.

HELP PREVENT FIRE LOSS!

The fellow who drops a lighted cigarette on the road through his car window may not be an arsonist at heart—but he can cause a forest fire! The person who smokes in bed isn't intent on destroying his home, yet that's a frequent result! The housewife who collects combustibly-laden rags or does home cleaning doesn't want to threaten her family, but a fire hazard lurks in these practices. Make yourself personally responsible for fire prevention; and have ample insurance protection against the carelessness of others!

FIRE LOSSES

Fire destroys without mercy! What must be rebuilt or replaced is preventable expenditure—and therefore goes hand in hand with inflation! Do your part to prevent fire losses. They're so costly!

With the present housing shortage and mushroom housing development, fire is a greater menace to the nation than ever before.

ELECTRICAL SAFETY TIPS

National Fire Prevention Week

Permanent wiring, installed according to the National Electrical Code and properly fused, is safe from fire hazards, although frequently fires are blamed on "defective wiring" simply because no other origin is apparent. When a fire is traceable to electrical causes, it is usually due to an improper installation and subsequently neglect or to misuse of electricity or electrical equipment.

- 1—Have your wiring inspected to see that it conforms with National Electrical Code.
- 2—Deal only with a capable, experienced electrician. Do not entrust wiring to an inexperienced "handyman" or the safety of the job may be impaired.
- 3—Never use a penny for a substitute for a fuse. Fuses are current-limiting devices, designed to cut off current before damage can result if a short circuit or overload causes wires to overheat. Pennies or fuses that are too large may allow wires to become hot enough to ignite insulation, possibly causing a fire. The right size fuse for most household branch circuits is 15 or 20 amperes.
- 4—Use only appliance cords bearing label of the Underwriters Laboratory, which signifies compliance with rigid safety standards. Do not drive nails or tacks through cords, place them under rugs or in contact with radiators or other heat sources.
- 5—Use only asbestos-covered cords with heating appliances.
- 6—Always disconnect an iron (especially non-automatic) if you leave it standing on ironing board while you answer phone or doorbell.
- 7—Never put away an iron or other heating appliance until cool.

Uniform Time
Now Arranged
For Evictions

Frank S. Anderson, Area Rent Director of Erie and Warren Counties, today called attention to a recent amendment in the Regulations for Housing which grants a uniform four months waiting period in Eviction Certificates issued to veteran purchasers or property. Formerly the period varied from three to six months for the veteran depending on how adequately housed he might be.

Anderson also called attention to a change in the Regulations which specifically forbids the improper use of an Eviction Certificate. The new amendment provides that a landlord who has filed a petition must notify the Rent Director in writing of any change in his intended use of the Certificate, and if a Certificate has been issued, and the landlord does not intend to use it for the purpose specified it must be surrendered to the Rent Director for cancellation.

Hair brushes, tooth brushes and scrub brushes should not be turned on their backs to dry, as is the common practice.

Pow-Wow For Cubs Planned
For Oct. 19th

Many leading Cubbers of the Warren Boy Scout Council have been asked to take part in the Cubbing Pow-Wow to be held on Saturday October 19, in the Grace Methodist church. The Cubbing Pow-Wow will start at 2:30 p. m. and continue until 9:00 Saturday evening.

William P. Taylor, member of the council Training Committee will be in charge of the program which will be divided into four parts. Many other Cubbers and Scouters of the area will attend this outstanding Cub activity. Cubmasters, Den Mothers, Den Dads, Cub Pack Committeemen, Cubs have been invited.

The purpose of the Cubbing Pow-Wow is to give those interested in Cubbing an opportunity to learn more games and tricks, ceremonies and entertainments and Cub crafts that are used in this younger boys program.

The Pow-Wow is divided into four sections. Cub Pack Management for committeemen and Cubmasters, games and fun for Den Mothers and parents, ceremonies and entertainment and Cub crafts for assistant Cubmasters, Den Mothers and Parents. Each Cub Pack in the area will have at least one person in each section.

The chairman of each Cub committee is serving as chairman of the attendance committee and is making every effort to have his Pack well represented at this Cubbing Pow-Wow.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove, Oct. 5—Rev. and Mrs. Carleton Foss were given a reception Thursday evening at the church when fifty members of the church and congregation met for a tureen supper which was served at tables decorated with flowers arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mickelson.

Following the supper Mrs. Neil Scott presided at a program which had been planned by the C. and O. Circle. Mrs. Gerald Miller was pianist for the group singing.

Special musical numbers were given by the Young Peoples Choir with Dorothy Miller as pianist and by the Male Quartet of the church. Greetings were brought from the various organizations of the church by Jesse Thompson, from the church, Walter Warner, the Sunday school, Mrs. Roy Briggs, the W. S. C. S., Mrs. Harold Barnes, the C. and O. Circle, and Travers Stohberg, the choir. Mr. and Mrs. Foss responded. Devotions were conducted by F. A. Schoonover, who read scripture and offered prayer.

A feature of the supper was a decorated birthday cake made by Mrs. Walter Warner for Mr. and Mrs. Schoonover, who were celebrating a birthday. The program closed with the singing of Bless Be the Tie That Binds.

The Sugar Grove Volunteer Fire Company were called out for the second time this week, when they were called to the home of John Sweeney Friday evening at seven o'clock. A chimney fire had started but no serious damage resulted.

The Sugar Grove Child Health Center will be open Wednesday afternoon at two thirty o'clock.

The sleeping sponge was the major anesthetic of the Middle Ages. The fumes of juices of soporific plants, on a sea-sponge, were inhaled by the patient and were supposed to make him unconscious.

Before buying an iron, try out both light and heavy irons to see which seems easier and more convenient.

Relief At Last
For Your Cough

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel phlegm laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

SETS 4-SPADE BID

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The middle western players are looking forward with a great deal of interest to the forthcoming All American Tournament to be held at the French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Ind. This tournament has been held heretofore in Chicago.

A number of eastern experts are planning to go out to the tournament, which gets under way Oct. 23, with the men's pair and women's pair championships. As the middle western card player can play his tickets on a par with the best in the world, this tournament is sure to attract some of the country's greatest players.

You might not bid today's hand the way it is given here, but I think you will admit that East and West made some fine defense.

him, West could not have more than one diamond. Therefore he led the diamond four. Declarer won in dummy with the king and led a low spade.

Wood, knowing that his partner had some reason for not opening a heart, won with the ace of spades and returned the queen of hearts, which Cain ruffed. A diamond was returned, Wood ruffed, and of course another heart was ruffed.

Many players pay little or no attention to the bidding. If they would remember every bid that is made and review it before the opening lead is made, they would greatly improve their game.
